Place:

České Budějovice

The conference is addressed to the scholars, students, public institution officers, nonprofit organisation workers as well as entrepreneurs.

Aims of conference:

The International Conference on Sustainable Development provides a platform for discussion on current problems and trends in sustainable development of EU regions. The conference also provides space for presentations of research activities focused on practice in the fields of economics, management, political science, law and security sciences and space to respond to current events. In this regard, the conference aims to reach the following goals in 2022:

- Assess the current situation, issues and challenges of the EU in 2022 (war in Ukraine, migration crisis, impacts of COVID-19, energy and food security, deepening the integration of the Czech Republic, the state of democracy in the EU, participation of citizens in European integration, Schengen-related issues, Europol, Eurojust, cooperation in the area of selected EU policies, institutional reforms, various ideas about the future of the EU, the sustainability of the EU's fundamental freedoms, the internal and external security of the EU, the development of European regions, etc.).
- Assess the plans and the direction of the European Commission, including the position and priorities of the Czech Republic, the progress of the Czech presidency over the EU.
- Discuss the priorities and the status of programming period 2020–2027.
- Identify and analyse the possibilities of further qualitative and quantitative development of the standard of living of EU citizens in relation to the current economic development.
- Characterize the overall strategic view of Europe and its future direction in the political, economic, social, security and environmental dimension.
- The current trends of security sciences in detecting, clarifying, investigating and preventing crime or other anti-social activities.

Official conference languages: Czech, Slovak, English
